

Viva to the new year

EATING House's New Year's Eve with Elvis Party 2005 is shaping up to be Rowville's premier event.

With pre-dinner drinks on arrival, a special 10-course seafood and grill mezze menu, giveaways and champagne at midnight, it's no surprise that tickets are selling fast.

Head chef Kelvin Weber and his team have designed a delectable menu that includes oysters, prawns, calamari, lamb cutlets, steak, chicken, Atlantic salmon, plus assorted accompaniments.

The Elvis Presley Live Tribute Show promises to be a spectacular performance that captures the true spirit of the King in concert.

After the show you can dance away the last few hours of 2005 and usher in the new year in style with the entire Eating House family.

With 2005 drawing to a close, The Eating House family looks forward to a host of new events and activities for 2006.

A new menu, more live music, comedy nights, special Eat Club Member only parties and cooking classes are among plans.

The high level of food safety standards at the restaurant won it first place in the City of Knox's Going for Gold program. The Eating House family and staff would like to thank the community for its patronage and look forward to an exciting 2006.
